the latest celeb GOSSIP

Celebrity and entertainment news is always juicy. Even if you don't keep up with tabloids or regularly check gossip websites, everyone loves their daily dose of the tea. Metro has the scoop on the biggest scandals, shockers, shades and all-around crazy tidbits that have the celebrity world in a tizzy. Here are the biggest gossip stories of this week. MOLLY GIVEN

CARMELO ANTHONY DENIES CHEATING RUMORS

The Rockets player was photographed on Wednesday on a yacht with a young woman in the south of France. Soon after the photos appeared online, cheating rumors began to swirl. Anthony spoke out against the rumors in a video that appeared on TMZ Sports. "I'm really only addressing this for my family," he said in the clip. "Keep my family out this, man." This is not the first allegation against Anthony. A source told Page Six: "Even though they are still married, they are still working on their marriage. [La La] has trust issues, and she does not trust him fully. She is currently in therapy."

ZENDAYA WARNS FANS ABOUT HER NEW SHOW

The former Disney Channel star is no longer acting in "family-style" content. Zendaya is starring in HBO's new dark teen drama "Euphoria," in which she plays a recovering drug addict returning to high school after rehab. The 22-year-old warned her fans on Instagram about her explicit new role. "'Euphoria' is a raw and honest portrait of addiction, anxiety and the difficulties of navigating life today," the actress wrote in her post on social media. "There are scenes that are graphic, hard to watch and can be triggering. Please only watch if you feel you can handle it."

KYLIE JENNER FEUDS WITH A-ROD

The makeup maven was not too happy with the baseball star after he told Sports Illustrated that the 21-year-old was "talking about Instagram and her lipstick, and how rich she is" while at the Met Gala. Jenner decided to refute that claim on Twitter: "Umm no i didn't. We only spoke about Game of Thrones." Rodriguez replied, "OMG that's right @KylieJenner!! It was me talking about you and your makeup line and how much my girls love you," adding the hashtags #GOT #respect #alllove.

The boys are back

"Jersey Boys" follows the story of The Four Seasons. GETTY

"Jersey Boys" will be onstage at Hard Rock Casino & Hotel until July 21. MOLLY GIVEN

The Tony Award-winning musical is coming back to where it all began--- Jersey. "Jersey Boys" recently began their stint at the Hard Rock Casino & Hotel in Atlantic City, and fans have until July 21 to witness the magic of this feel-good show. It's Broadway via the boardwalk.

Fans have been going crazy for this musical extravaganza featuring smooth sounding jukebox-tunes, colorful sets and costumes and of course sublime dancing. The musical ran on Broadway from 2005 to 2017, and since its debut, "Jersey Boys" has been on two North American national tours and two international tours as well.

The story follows The Four Seasons and their incredible come up from a young group of in-sync guys who love to sing, to a wildly popular sensation of harmonizers who take the country by storm. However, the quartet's rags to riches tale does not come without its share of drama and obstacles. The Four Seasons may seem fluid and in unison while performing on stage, but behind the scenes is a different story.

What makes "Jersey Boys" different from a lot of other popular stage shows is the direct interaction the cast members have with the audience. Each member of The Four Seasons takes a turn narrating their point of view, and theatre-goers truly get a unique experience through every act.

What makes "Jersey Boys" unforgettable is the nostalgic sweet-sounding music that truly is unmatched when thinking back to the jukebox era. It's almost impossible not to sing along to "Sherry", or to be impressed by "Big Girls Don't Cry" or simply to just sit back and enjoy other hits such as "December '63 (Oh, What a Night)," "Walk Like A Man", "Who Loves You," and "Can't Take My Eyes Off You." If there was ever a show that tempts audience members to leap out of their seats and dance, it's certainly "Jersey Boys".

Parx becomes second Pennsylvania casino to introduce online sports

GETTY IMAGES

The launch came about a month after SugarHouse.

MATT BURKE
matthew.burke@metro.us

SugarHouse Casino is no longer the only game in town when it comes to online sports betting as Parx Casino debuted its mobile sportsbook this week.

The Parx website and app comes along nearly one month since SugarHouse received the green light from the Pennsylvania Gaming Control Board to launch their online book.

The launch of online sports betting sites in Pennsylvania is expected to increase the state's monthly sports betting revenue totals by at least 100 percent immediately. The PGCB releases its figures monthly, and with SugarHouse only having four days of action in the month of May it was reported that SugarHouse still nabbed an impressive $573,163 in handle.

The state of New Jersey sports betting scene has been thriving over the past year, thanks mostly to mobile wagering. With approximately 80 percent of sports bets in the Garden State coming online rather than at physical locations, New Jersey reports that over $2.64 billion worth of sports bets have been made since sports betting began in the state one year ago.

As for the Parx app in Pennsylvania, several users have expressed difficulties in downloading via iOS devices. SugarHouse users have been having a similar problem with Apple.

Earlier this month, Apple posted the following update to its guidelines:

"HTML5 games distributed in apps may not provide access to real money gaming, lotteries, or charitable donations, and may not support digital commerce."

Aries Read the fine print if you are negotiating a contract. Make an adjustment to your living arrangements or help an older relative get used to inevitable changes.

Taurus Handle people with care. How you deal with others will make a difference in how well you are treated in return. Choose to be kind and sensitive.

Gemini A professional change that offers greater freedom should be looked at seriously. Money is important, but not more so than your mental and emotional health. Aim to lower stress.

Cancer Make positive suggestions and lend a helping hand. Don't make a change just because someone else does. Don't react or respond impulsively.

Leo Let change come to you. Refuse to let your emotions take control or lead you into an unsavory situation. Choose peace and love over discord, and health over excess and indulgence.

Virgo An attitude adjustment will encourage you to make a change. Let go of people and situations that have been dragging you down. A practical lifestyle will get you back on track.

Libra Force issues and make things happen. If you don't, someone else will take charge and control what you can and cannot do. If you don't take action, you'll have only yourself to blame.

Scorpio Your emotions will dictate the changes you make. Try not to let anger or irrational behavior lead to a no-win situation. Think matters through before you take action.

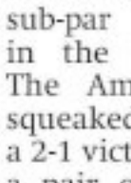
USWNT ready to rumble today with France

Alex Morgan #13 of USA looks on during the 2019 FIFA Women's World Cup

GETTY IMAGES

Today's clash between two women's soccer powers should be an instant classic.



MATT BURKE

The 2019 Women's World Cup Final will not take place until Sunday, July 7 but for all intents and purposes today's USA-France matchup in Paris is this tournament's title game.

The USWNT and France are the top two favorites to win the tournament, with +170 and +350 odds respectively (odds via MetroBet.us/Sugar). Back in December when the World Cup draw was announced, most everyone anticipated an Elite 8 matchup between the two powerhouses and here we are today.

Today's showdown will — no doubt — be a classic, though both teams are coming off sub-par performances in the Round of 16. The Americans barely squeaked by Spain with a 2-1 victory and needed a pair of penalty kick goal from Megan Rapinoe to get the job done. Meanwhile, France went into extra time with Brazil before captain Amandine Henry notched the game-winner.

Morgan magic?

The USWNT could use one of those transcendent performances from Alex Morgan today. Morgan ripped off five goals in the team's clobbering of Thailand in the first game of the tournament but she has been held scoreless since.

A big part of the reason Morgan has been silent of late is that opposing teams are playing bully-ball with her, and tackling at every opportunity. Despite having missed one goal, Morgan has been the most fouled player in this tournament.

Spain was particularly rough with the entire USWNT, and it's a good bet that the French will also attempt to make it a physical match. France's defensive wizard, Wendie Renard, will be the primary woman in charge of slowing down Morgan.

France has allowed a grand total of two goals in four games played in the World Cup thus far. The United States has given up just one.

Offensively, the French are led by Henry (two goals in 2019 World Cup), Eugenie Le Sommer (two goals), and Valerie Gauvin (two goals). Following a four-goal outburst in their opener against Korea Republic, France has scored just five goals total in the three games since.

The USWNT, meanwhile, has seven total goals in their last three games and has scored at least twice in each contest played in the tournament.

VSiN Nuggets

* The U.S. was laying the equivalent of 1.25 goals Monday vs. Spain in global markets. The Stars and Stripes needed two successful penalty kicks to win the game 2-1. Stunningly, its hyped machinery of offensive talent could only put three shots on goal, while earning just three corner kicks.

Give the team credit for possessing the ball often enough in the penalty area to get kicked in the shin. More is expected vs. mediocre opposition at those odds.

* The U.S. did cover the goal line in a prior 2-0 win over Sweden in group play. But, that game featured only four shots on goal and five corner kicks for the big favorites. This was a team expected to launch dangerous shots at will vs. lesser lights.

* France, laying -1.25 goals vs. Brazil, needed overtime to survive 2-1. France's first tally was its ONLY shot on goal for the bulk of regulation time. Aging Brazil ran out of gas or the hosts may not have made it to Friday.

* France, laying just under -1.5 goals vs. Norway in group play could only manage a 2-1 victory (helped by a penalty kick in the final minutes). The French had trouble keeping possession, losing that stat 56% to 44% to the big underdog.

Hey, both teams are undefeated. Both could easily have been caught looking ahead to this meeting that everyone's been talking about since the day of the draw. Friday's winner will still be the market favorite to lift the Cup, though Germany has been getting a lot of sharp play on the futures board. Neither is yet playing to big-game expectations. Jeff Fogle

One of the exclusive aspects of MetroBet.us/Sugar is the SugarHouse Jackpot Parlay in the upper-left-hand column.

It's incredibly fun as you can re-pick your combo bets as many times as you like, until you find something that suits you.

Here are the steps:

1. Go to MetroBet.us/Sugar and enter promo code METROBET.
2. Go to "Jackpot Parlay" in the upper-left-hand column.
3. Click on "All Sports," then click "Next 24 Hours," and use the "+" sign to select how much you want to bet.
4. You'll get eight combo bets selected randomly (you can re-pick until you find something you like).
5. Click on the green "Place Bets" button at the bottom.

In a recent Jackpot Parlay, the eight randomly selected bets were as follows:

Tobin Heath first goal scorer vs. Sweden, Joc Pederson home run vs. Giants, White Sox vs. Cubs over 1.5 runs in first inning, Tigers vs. Pirates over 12 runs, Carlos Santana home run vs. Rangers, Mexico vs. Canada soccer: correct score second half, Mets vs. Braves over 13.5 runs, Rockies run line (-2) at Diamondbacks.

If all of those hit, you would win $102,062.47 on a $1 bet — a sports betting jackpot!

As you can see, this is a fun way to follow a variety of sports, and the odds are similar to playing the lottery.

To bet now, go to MetroBet.us/Sugar and get up to $250 in a first-deposit match bonus.

Phillies at Marlins

Friday night's series opener between the Philadelphia Phillies and Miami Marlins features a rematch of last Saturday's starters at Citizens Bank Park in Vince Velazquez (2-4, 4.40 ERA) and Elieser Hernandez (0-2, 4.34 ERA). Velazquez was unlucky to get a no-decision in that one as his team was up 3-1 after five innings behind his one-hit performance but ultimately lost 5-3. First five innings bettors should flock to the windows to back the Phillies here.

Velazquez owns solid numbers against most of Miami's hitters: third baseman Brian Anderson, second baseman Starlin Castro, first baseman Neil Walker and outfielder Curtis Granderson are 6-for-54 (.111) all-time off the California native.

All-Star right fielder Bryce Harper did most of the damage for the Phillies against Hernandez on Saturday, knocking a homer while driving in another run with a single. Expect a similar performance here. The play: Phillies moneyline

MLB Friday best bets: Rangers at Rays

MetroBet breaks down the most bet-friendly game on the MLB slate for Friday night here as the Rangers face the Rays.

Lance Lynn (9-4, 4.32 ERA) has put together a strong month of June for the Texas Rangers, and he should keep the momentum going at Tropicana Field on Friday night as he battles Yonny Chirinos (7-3, 3.00 ERA) and the Tampa Bay Rays.

Lynn is 3-0 in June with a 3.62 ERA. Though his ERA is only marginally lower than it was in May (3.82), his WHIP has dropped from 1.303 to 1.021. Lynn has accomplished this mainly by limiting walks, as he's surrendered just three in his last five starts combined. His SO/W ratio this month is 12.66. The Rays' lineup has little experience against Lynn, save for outfielder Avisail Garcia, who has just two hits off Lynn in 15 prior encounters.

Chirinos' ERA has risen from 2.19 in May to 3.16 in June. Not coincidentally, Tampa has essentially taken the training wheels off for Chirinos in recent efforts, asking him to start and pitch deep into games rather than take over from an "opener."

The play: Rangers moneyline

Bryce Harper #3 of the Philadelphia Phillies GETTY IMAGES

Bettors sour on Phillies, Harper

The Phillies are now 5/1 to win the NL East.

VSiN

On the final day of February, Bryce Harper signed a 13-year contract with the Philadelphia Phillies for a reported $330 million. This launched the Phils well up the National League and World Championship futures board. It supposedly set the tone for a decade of NL East dominance.

The Phils are now near the halfway mark of the 2019 season and the franchise must be suffering buyer's remorse. Bettors who took flyers on Philadelphia are certainly regretting those significantly smaller investments.

The Phillies don't look like a team that's going to chase down surging Atlanta at the top of the NL East. William Hill now has the Braves at -475 to win the division (risk $475 just to win $100, or anything in that ratio). That's 83% to win. Philadelphia is now 5/1, which is a 17% win equivalent. (The Mets are currently 25/1, or 4%...as sports books build a universe larger than 100% to create a house edge.)

Philadelphia could be stuck in wildcard gridlock throughout the campaign's second half and not even make the playoffs. The Phillies are currently 15/2 to win the NL (12%), and 15/1 to win the World Series (6%).

What should bettors expect of Harper and the Phils down the stretch? It's possible that baseball observers will have to accept that his fantastic 2015 season was a fluke. Usually hitters improve consistently (often dramatically) from their "age 22" seasons. Harper isn't playing like he'll ever get back to those numbers.

Playing 153 games in 2015, Harper posted a .330 batting average, a .460 on-base percentage, a .649 slugging percentage, while hitting 42 home runs and striking out 131 times.

Through 78 games in 2019, Harper was hitting .251, getting on base at a .365 clip, and slugging .467. You can simply double his home run and strike out totals to ballpark a full season estimate. That would yield 26 homers with a whopping 188 strikeouts. All this happening in a high scoring season with aerodynamically friendly baseballs creating "steroid" type stats. Harper isn't taking advantage in what is supposed to be his prime.

Harper fans can say "hey, it's only half a season." But it's not. In 2018 with Washington his stat line was .249, .393, .496. Harper is an on-base machine. That by itself doesn't justify his paycheck or market respect. (Note that Washington was minus 25 units for bettors last season, and the Phils are down a few more so far in 2019.)

For now, it's best to assume that the Phillies won't be offering any betting value unless Harper heats up to something resembling his career peak. They're not an auto-fade. The Phils aren't as bad as the American League tankers who will make a run at 100 losses. But markets usually take some time to fully correct preseason misreads on projected powers. It's probably "pass or fade" unless you see ideal scenarios against opponents who are struggling even more dramatically. Jeff Fogle
